

Conflict of Interest

The Corporation must conform with the conflict of interest rules as set by legislation. The Corporation could be restricted from engaging services from a company where the following situation exists or is perceived:

- a) the personal or business interests of a director, officer, agent or employee of the Corporation are in conflict with the interests of the Corporation; or
- a) a personal gain, benefit, advantage or privilege is directly given or received by a director, officer, agent or employee of the Corporation or a person related to one of them as a result of a decision by the Corporation.
